

CHILD AND PARENT RELATIONS IN THE FAMILY*Bahauddinov Shamsuddin Salievich

Doctoral student of Nukus State Pedagogical Institute named after Ajiniyaz

ANNOTATION

This article provides recommendations for educating young people. In particular, the responsibilities of parents in the upbringing of young people were revealed. Aspects of parenting in parenting were outlined. Existing problems in the upbringing of young people were pointed out. The solutions to these problems are based on Islamic sources. Data were obtained from reliable sources.

Keywords: Child, young, upbringing, reward, punishment, family, father, mother, responsibility, Islam, etiquette, son, daughter, age, puberty, adolescent.

In the context of renewed Uzbekistan, the restoration of family values and kinship means the economic, cultural, and professional development of every family. Family and family problems have always been in the focus and protection of the state. Our Constitution, which is a document that drives the development of society, also emphasizes the issue of the family. Our Constitution states: "The family is the basic unit of society and has the right to protection by society and the state."

Family is a small homeland. As noted by President Shavkat Mirziyoyev, "the family is the spiritual fortress that ensures the continuity of generations." Today, not only our main task but also our human duty is to bring up a harmoniously developed generation. Therefore, all good deeds in our country are carried out, first of all, to strengthen families and ensure a bright future for the younger generation. After all, as long as the family is healthy, the society is strong, as long as the society is strong, the country is stable. Not only the family, educational institutions but also the community are responsible for the upbringing of children. Because the upbringing of children depends on many factors, first of all, on the moral and spiritual environment. Family cooperation with educational institutions is important in this regard. It is the sacred duty of each of us to form a love for the motherland, to ensure that they grow up as an enlightened and spiritual person, to create an economic and social environment for children to be spiritually mature and physically healthy.

Happily, there is a growing interest among parents in raising their children. This is due to the attention paid by the head of our state to all areas in the interests of the people, the ongoing reforms, the conditions created, the opportunities provided. Parents who take full advantage of such opportunities take their children's upbringing very seriously. This is because the child is a great blessing given by Allah, but it is also a responsibility and a trust given to the parents. As children are our future, our main task should be to bring them up physically, mentally, and spiritually healthy.

Every parent should have a deep understanding of their duties and responsibilities in raising a child. Therefore, peace of mind in the family, sincere attitude, high parental prestige, maintaining unity among family adults in demanding children, paying special attention to nurturing the child's personality, putting the child in love and respect, establishing a strict regime and agenda in the family, taking into account age and personal characteristics, monitoring changes in the child, striving for independence in him and supporting the qualities of initiative show that parents have pedagogical knowledge.

Expected results can be achieved only if family upbringing is inextricably linked with social upbringing. In this regard, parents need to acquire the positive parenting skills necessary for the upbringing of children in the family and their spiritual, moral, spiritual, and physical development. Every parent wants their child to be the most stolen highly enlightened and happy in the world and is working towards that. Therefore, we, the staff of the preschool education system, parents, in cooperation with the community, should never be indifferent to the upbringing of children. Let us never forget that it is the duty of all of us to take care of the younger generation, to ensure their healthy growth, proper upbringing, and education, considering the focus on the education of our children as our own and the future. Let us bring up our children in such a way that they grow up faithful to their ancestors, their history, Motherland, family, mother tongue, nationality, religion, and traditions.

The backbone of the family and society. In the minds of our children, feelings of love for the country are formed in the family, in the neighborhood where they live. The future of the country, its peace, and prosperity depend first and foremost on our children growing up in this small community. In which family, in which neighborhood, as long as the upbringing is well organized, that family, that neighborhood will prosper.

The question of when to start raising a child worries many. Many scholars have given different answers to it. In particular, Ibn Sina replied that the upbringing of a child should be done from the mother's womb before it is born. Attention to family, morals, and education is one of our deepest responsibilities. The proverb "Seven neighboring parents for one child" is also typical of our people. This proverb itself shows how important parenting is for us. The people of the neighborhood, especially the elderly, never passed by a child who was doing bad things on the street, and immediately reprimanded him and called him to the right path. After all, our sacred religion, which commands us to be beautiful, polite, well-mannered in all respects, to purify the nafs, attaches great importance to the family.

A parent raising a child should be able to display noble qualities in every movement, gait, behavior, and interaction with others. Because a child is by nature extremely imitative and observant. That is why those around him, with their habits, sometimes influence them without realizing it. Rough family relationships, many lies, and unpleasant behavior create an unhealthy environment that negatively affects a child's upbringing.

Parental behavior plays an important role in child-rearing. When a child grows up hearing rude, harsh words from a parent and eating a bitch, it negatively affects his nature. This, in turn, leads to the formation of "mentally ill" people from a child brought up in an unhealthy family environment. They also harm the morale of society.

Thanks to independence, our people are traveling abroad and returning to witness new peoples and traditions. In particular, our citizens who travel to European countries today are more prone to organized crime and violence among Western adolescents than young people in other countries. This is because children are given more freedom than they need. They are already being told that no one will stop them from indulging in various immoral acts.

Throughout his life, a person considers a person as an example for himself, from which a person seeks to live a life like that, to achieve success as he has achieved, to reach great heights. Today, young members of society face many challenges as they emulate the thinking and lifestyle of people from other cultures for their own lives.

In the 21st century, different lifestyles and ideas have entered the competition. To succeed in this, every state must have an ideology based on the expression of its religious and national values to others while preserving its identity. Otherwise, the loss of identity, the renunciation of invaluable values, separates man from progress and turns him into a mancurt without a dependent, independent mind. It can be felt that the conspiracies being carried out secretly to achieve selfish ends are aimed at destroying the identity of some nations. In this case, the focus is not on capturing areas, but on capturing the human mind.

Of course, raising a child is very complicated and responsible. This requires every parent to work on themselves regularly, to keep abreast of all the information about the upbringing of children. Parenting is a complex process that includes not only experience, simple instructions, and a set of knowledge, but also knowledge in areas such as religious and moral knowledge, medicine, ethics, psychology, pedagogy.

Another method that parents can use as a tool in teaching their children to spend time effectively is the judicious use of modern information technology. A parent needs to take a child with him to places of interest in nature, museums, and at the same time instill in his heart the beauty of beauty, to form a sense of aesthetic education, enjoyment of beautiful landscapes.

In conclusion, the parental and family environment is very important for the upbringing of a generation with strong spiritual immunity, the ability to express themselves fluently, to achieve high goals. It is no secret that the conquest of the human heart and mind, especially the various dangers of poisoning the spiritual world of young people, is growing in today's world. Only a strong young generation will be able to protect our sacred land from alien and alien influences, disasters, and to develop our Motherland in all respects. Let us bring up our children in such a way that they grow up faithful to their ancestors, their history, their homeland, their mother tongue, their nation, their religion, and their traditions.

REFERENCES

1. Bossword K.E. History of Muslim dynasties. – T.: Fan, 2007.
2. Jumaboev Y. From the history of the development of philosophy and moral thought in Uzbekistan. – T.: Oqituvchi, 1997.
3. Mirza Kenjabek. Great Termezians. – T.: Uzbekistan, 2017.
4. Hoja Ahror Valiy. Sufism and politics. – T.: Ma'rifat, 2004.
5. Ghazzoliy Abu Hamid. Kimyoi saodat. Mahkam Mahmud's translation. – T.: Adolat, 2005.
6. Ghazzoliy Abu Hamid. Mukashafatul qulub. Translated by Miraziz Azam. – T.: Adolat, 2002.
7. Ghazzoliy Abu Hamid. Ihyau Ulumud-din. Translation by Rashid Zahid. – T.: Mowarounnahr, 2006.
8. Ghazzoliy Abu Hamid. Hey, kid. Translation by Yuldash Eshbek. – T.: Mowarounnahr, 2005.